Day 9 · Help with the trial pages

1 · Follow what they say

Lea goes with the lamp on the table. Mika goes with both chairs. There is no need to remember anything from the game.

2 · Both can be right

The first option. The picture has both the lamp and the chairs. Naming different things is not in itself a disagreement.

3 · Two new clues

For example the basket, the table or the window. The child chooses two things that neither child mentioned. Answering aloud is just as good as writing.

4 · Two or three?

Circle “Two” and “Three”. Tick “How many lamps were lit”. Lea and Mika came in together on a different evening from the one on the first page. We have not shown an answer picture from that evening, so we cannot choose who remembers correctly. You could ask: What could we look into next?

5 · Your own room

Three things the child chooses. Let the child describe and point. There is no right answer for the drawing. The picture can stay in view, so this need not become a memory test.

About the draft

This is the English version of a separate design pilot. The original sheets and the combined booklet are kept. The tasks are made-up exercises in comparing statements. The pages have not been tried with children or printed on paper.
